

Abstract:

A carrier for retaining an oxygen bottle said carrier comprising a flexible open-top container adapted for maintaining a close fitting relationship with an oxygen bottle, said container including an upper mouth portion made at least 5 partially from a stiff material to enable an oxygen bottle to be loaded therein vertically; and a flexible upper bottle retaining portion, for preventing said bottle from falling out of said carrier.